

Growing Plants from Seeds and Cuttings

a propagation workshop presented by the

Master Gardeners at Precinct 2

Saturday, March 21, 2009

9 a.m.–1 p.m.

Environmental Institute of Houston at University of Houston Clear Lake

Propagation is a great way to save money in your gardening budget by growing your own plants. In this hands-on workshop you will learn about and practice a variety of methods to propagate some popular plants. All participants will take home the plants they propagate. Participants may bring snacks and/or lunch. Coffee and tea will be provided.

Early registration fee $15 before March 14. Registration at the door $20. Attendance is limited. Use the form below to register early and reserve your space.
